Grande designs

Inspired by advances in cellular reprogramming, Biologique Recherche's La Grande Crème is a luxury, anti-ageing formula to treat a variety of age-related skincare concerns; in particular, targeting the expression of genes involved in the cutaneous ageing process.

The formula contains EpigenActiv, a peptide that acts on growth-factor receptors, which regenerate tissues and recycle degraded proteins. It also works to promote tissue regeneration and regrowth. Anti-free-radical and anti-glycation ingredients help protect the skin and regulate collagen and elastin production. The crème also plumps the skin, reshapes the facial contour and smoothes wrinkles and fine lines.

Pretty in pinks

Delicate pinks and nudes set the tone for Jessica's spring collection, La Vie en Rose.

The colours include: Lavender Lush, a light opalescent; the warm crème peach of Posh; Cheeky, a pale beige touched with pink; Pinkies Up, a dusty rose; Lavish, a luminous white infused with pink crème; and the light coral crème of Peony.

Jessica's cruelty-free and vegan-friendly colours feature a unique vitamin-enriched formula and are free from formaldehyde, toluene, DBP, camphor, xylene and ethyl tosylamide.

Dynamic skincare duo

Targeting fine lines, facial contours and slackening skin, Clarins has introduced a wrinkle-controlling day and night duo.

Its new Extra-Firming Day and Night Creams are formulated with Australian extract of kangaroo flower, which boasts a potent regenerating action that helps to restore, revitalise and renew the skin.

Anti-wrinkle, firming and lifting, the creams aim to even skin tone while moisturising and protecting from pollution with ingredients like acerola and African ebony.

Extra-Firming Day offers an immediate smoothing effect with enhanced radiance, while Extra-Firming Night acts during sleep, when cellular renewal is at its peak.
