

Biologique Recherche La Grande Crème

JUNE 18, 2018

There are no shortages in anti-ageing products out there but when we stumble across one that actually works, it gets our undivided attention. Such is the case for La Grande Crème, the newest addition to the Biologique Recherche family.

Unlike many, this miracle formula adapts to each individual's ageing process based on their genetics and from there works to promote cell regrowth. The pioneering ingredient that makes this all possible is called peptide EpigeActive, created exclusively by the label's Parisian scientists. It revitalises the skin's protein to rejuvenate degraded tissue, leaving clientele with visibly younger looking skin. In lament terms, it essentially turns back the clock on all the ageing effects caused by harsh environmental factors. It improves the skin's elasticity and plumpness, reduces pigmentation and restructures the facial contours so you're left with skin that's even, radiant and flawless.

The cult French skincare line is a firm favourite amongst stars including Oprah Winfrey and Vogue's Anna Wintour so you know it has been tried, tested and approved. Apply a hazelnut-sized amount of La Grande Crème in the morning and/or evening to the cleansed skin of the entire face, neck, and décolleté. Massage the product into the skin, using upward strokes.

La Grande Crème is available at Embassy of Beauty Dubai.

By Sarah Jimaa