Creme Placenta & Lotion P50W by Biologique Recherche

I had the most incredible facial at a Biologique Recherche clinic earlier this year, and since then I've had my eye on a couple of their skincare products. Lotion P50W is an exfoliating acid and is probably Biologique Recherche's most well-known product. I'm using it in a bid to combat craggly cold-weather skin and 'resurface' my epidermis. Wish me luck.

I'm also excited to add Biologique Recherche's Creme Placenta to my beauty cycle, which is supposed to aid in rebuilding weakened and damaged skin. I'll be looking forward to baby-bum soft cheeks. Hopefully.
